1. Frontier troops are now on the Table of Organization of KNOJ Frontier Divisions. These troops are organized into regiments and their Table of Organization is as follows:
  - a. A regiment is composed of three battalions, each of which has one mortar company and three rifle companies. Each company has three rifle platoons and one platoon of AT rifles. The number of squads in a platoon varies depending on the number of frontier posts the platoon occupies. The regimental motor vehicles are mainly of German types and are driven by fuels other than gasoline, such as charcoal-generated gas.
  - b. Unit strengths are as follows:
Company ..... 120 to 180 men
Platoon ..... 30 to 60 men
Squad ..... 10 to 12 men
  - c. The mortar companies are armed entirely with German weapons. Each squad has one machine gun, three German sub-machine guns and German rifles. The squad leader carries a pistol.
  - d. Uniforms for frontier troops are good and consist of a blouse with one row of buttons, cap and overcoat, all of olive-gray. The cloth and boots are of good quality.
  - e. The following is the ration and pay scale:
Bread ..... 800 grams
Meat ..... 30 grams
Beans or barley .... 300 grams
Monthly pay ..... 150 dinars
2. Morale is high among the Communists but poor among the others. Units are held together by the watchfulness of agents of OZNA. Desertion is nevertheless fairly frequent.
